OFFSITE MAGAZINE

IS THE MARKET-LEADING PUBLICATION DEDICATED TO THE OFFSITE CONSTRUCTION AND MANUFACTURING ARENA.

With the latest news, exemplar case studies, comment, interviews and feature articles from leading lights in the industry plus company spotlights and profiles, Offsite Magazine aims to inform, inspire and spread best practice about this highly efficient way to improve the UK construction landscape.

Offsite removes much of the construction process from the construction site, leading to a number of efficiency and environmental benefits, including reduced onsite labour, shorter construction timescales, better health and safety and less material-intensive activity. The reduced onsite work - often saving weeks on overall project times - delivers a quicker finished scheme resulting in reduced overheads and impressive returns on investment for the client. The quality-controlled factory environment also means less waste with less product and onsite faults.

Offsite Magazine provides coverage from the UK and overseas on the world of concrete, steel and timber, architectural innovation and design, volumetric and modular buildings, MEP Services, bathroom and kitchen pods plus essentials such as fixtures, fittings and ancillary components.

Each issue will include the latest news, opinion and industry updates on the expanding world of offsite design, manufacture and delivery.

Offsite Magazine contains in-depth coverage of key base materials including timber, steel and concrete plus pod technology and volumetric modular buildings for permanent and relocatable applications.

We also report on a variety of issues surrounding the offsite construction sector, ranging from the latest technical updates, Government legislation and industry guidance that are influencing the increasingly important world of factory-based manufacture, design and delivery.

Offsite Magazine regularly cover the full gamut of building products that work with offsite technology to help streamline building delivery and performance to satisfy the busy specifiers and end-user’s every need.

INDUSTRY NEWS FEATURES AND 2020 COVERAGE

News
All the latest UK and international developments from the offsite sector including updates from key trade bodies and industry influencers including: British Precast, Steel Construction Institute, Structural Timber Association and the Modular and Portable Building Association plus people appointments, news-in brief and offsite events calendar.

Offsite Products & Systems
A range of features, interviews and opinion pieces on the predominant technologies of the offsite sector and how they are being used across an increasingly diverse range of sectors. Alongside a range of detailed supporting case studies, each issue will cover a number of product and system reviews plus supporting features on process improvements and offsite manufacture including:

- Concrete: Floor and wall panels, cladding, volumetric and pod technology, pre-stressed units and formwork systems
- Timber: Cross laminated timber (CLT), glulam, timber frame, SIPS, open and closed panel systems, and volumetric technology
- Steel: Light gauge steel framing, volumetric technology, cladding, roofing and complementary components
- Hybrid Construction: Combining materials structurally, externally and internally
- Pods & Modular Buildings
  Volumetric technology, whole building solutions, kitchen and bathroom pods for all building types
- Mechanical, Electrical, & Plumbing (MEP) Services:
  ‘Plug and play’ technology & plant-rooms and prefabricated utility modules
- Supply Chain Integration & Complementary Components Including:
  Insulation, Cladding, Roofing, Flooring, Fenestration, Adhesives and membranes, tapes and seals, fixings etc
- BIM & Digital Design
  The growing use of augmented and virtual reality, productivity improvements, supply chain integration and intelligent buildings

Sector Focus
Housing, Education, Healthcare, Infrastructure, Custodial, Defence, Local Authority, Leisure, Retail and Commercial - the use of offsite technology in these vibrant sectors will be regularly highlighted via features, comment, opinion and supporting case studies on the best projects and exponents in the UK and overseas.
